ALC Would Give More Cash to Fight Pink Worm

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The pink boll worm caused a lot of talk in the Arkansas Legislative Council today.

As a result of discussion over the crop-destroying creature, the council recommended that the state Plant Board revise its pest control budget to a figure high enough to fight the boll worm effectively.

The revised budget estimate would include compulsory stalk destruction throughout the state, in addition to a uniform set of regulations for those counties in which the bollworm is found.

The new budget would be the third submitted by the Plant Board for the current session of budget hearings. The original one called for $61,000 a year, but after an influx of bollworms recently this was upped to $17,000 a year.

Plant Board Chairman Floyd Fulkerson said he had no idea of the cost of the proposed new program.

Fulkerson said the neighboring states of Texas and Oklahoma were responsible for the boll worm invasion of Arkansas. He said Texas had "accepted the pest" and Oklahoma was doing little or nothing to control it.

He said the Agriculture Department some time ago required the installation on heaters in cotton gin to kill the pest's eggs and a year later decided the devices were no good. This decision was due to "political coercion" in Texas, Fulkerson declared.

Western Arkansas was included in the original Agriculture Department order concerning the devices, he added, and the state Plant Board never had agreed they were useless.

In other action at the hearing today, an official told the Legislative Council the state has about 36,000 problem drinkers and full-fledged alcoholics.

Bennett in New Move on NAACP

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett unveiled a new move yesterday in his long fight against the National Ass'n for the Advancement of Colored People and asked an Arkansas state court to order the NAACP to pay a fine of $5,000 for illegally doing business in Arkansas.

Bennett asked Pulaski Circuit Court to order the NAACP to pay a fine of $5,000 for illegally doing business in Arkansas.

The attorney general has sought this fine for some time, but he told the court yesterday that an immediate order should be issued because the NAACP has admitted doing business in the state.

The admission, Bennett said, came in reply to a list of questions he submitted to the organization in connection with a court suit.

The suit contended that the NAACP, a profit-making organization and thus liable to the state's corporation laws, those laws require the NAACP to register and did not do so, Bennett charges.

This action, one of several taken by Bennett against the NAACP.

Iron Lung Victim Gets a Divorce

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Divorce court moved to the modest, suburban home of Doris Murrill, paralyzed and in an iron lung for the past nine years.

She was granted a divorce Wednesday on testimony that her husband, Robert, 38, a truck driver, didn't visit her for six months. She said he also refused to bring her their son, Jeffrey, who (was born one month before Mrs. Murrill was stricken with polio in 1949).

"The boy is all I have left now," Mrs. Murrill testified. "He is the most important thing in my life." The judge Burnett Wolfson approved a settlement giving Mrs. Murrill $17 a week support. The judge also gave her custody of Jeffrey with the provision that he remain in his father's home.

Mrs. Murrill, 29, lives with her parents in their Highland Park home.

30 Escape in Crash of a Plane, Train

EL TORO, Calif. (AP)—A jet fighter plane overshoot an airfield and crashed on railroad tracks Wednesday. Seconds later, a seven-car passenger train played in to the plane.

The train sent the jet cartwheeling through the air. The plane came to rest against a lounge car containing 30 passengers. Jet fuel exploded in flames.

The locomotive and four cars were derailed. Three sections of track were torn up. But no one was seriously injured.

The plane's pilot, who suffered only bruises, was the most seriously hurt. "I'd say the good Lord had his arm around a lot of people," said a spokesman at the El Toro Marine Corps Air Station, where the jet was practicing landings.

Hero of the near-disaster was Pat Schamber, brakeman on the Santa Fe's San Diego, bound to San Diego from Los Angeles with 130 passengers and crew.

He dragged the stunned pilot, Marine 2nd Lt. Phillip M. Schmidt, 23, from the wreckage. When they were about 50 feet away the F4D skyrocketed into flames.

Schmidt, practicing a power-off landing, overshoot a steel cable across the runway on which the plane was to hook. The jet sheared off a power pole and slammed onto the railroad tracks.

The train was approaching at 75 miles an hour.

"I saw nothing but a cloud of dust on the tracks about 250 feet ahead of me," said engineer William Ryder, 63. "I put on the emergency brake. Two or three seconds later came the impact. It took another 125 yards to bring the train to a halt."

The pilot, son of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Schmidt of Cincinnati, was taken to the station hospital for observation.

British Hero Wins Divorce From Wife

LONDON (AP)—A British wartime paratrooper hero today won a divorce action against the chic, attractive wife he accused of adultery with a Spanish duke.

The eight-day trial ended with a decree of judicial separation for Maj. Anthony Greyville Bell 38. His wealthy wife, Helen Rosemary, 26, was ordered to pay costs of the suit.

Named as co-respondent was the former Spanish ambassador to Britain, the Duke of Primo de Rivera, 54, member of one of Spain's noblest families and a close friend of Generalissimo Franco.

Justice Sir Henry William Barends said in his summation there was no doubt the wife had committed adultery with her husband. He said she had committed adultery. It did not follow that the commission was true, said the judge. "The object being to keep the husband away."

Both the duke and Mrs. Greyville-Bell had entered general denials of the adultery charge.

But the judge said he was convinced that the wife's admission to the husband of adultery was a true one. He said he was satisfied the duke and the major's wife had suitable opportunities in 1956 to commit adultery.

Costs of the suit were estimated at $22,400.

The duke had diplomatic immunity at the time the case was started and thus no action for costs was taken against him. He resigned after Spanish ambassador soon after Greyville-Bell brought suit.

Death Comes to Four Youths

Assessment Budget Cut by the ALC

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Legislative Council faced a state of 16 budget requests today with no sign that its economy drive had let up.

Sharp cuts were made yesterday in the state Assessment Co-ordination Department's budget request and pay cuts were recommended for 13 of the agency's 40 employees.

The budget-slaying, some of the most drastic undertaken by the council in its hearings, was done in a closed session.

The council recommended salary reductions for F.C. Canaday, department director, and several of his top employees. The recommended reduction was from $10,000 to $8,500 a year, suggested cuts for other employees ranged from $200 to $1,000 a year.

The department's entire budget was trimmed from $345,000 a year to $309,500.

A legislator who asked not to be identified said the cuts stemmed from dissatisfaction among council members from counties where property assessments have not been certified at 18 per cent of value or higher.

Failure of a county to be certified at the 18 per cent level mean they will lose some state funds.

In other action yesterday, the council:

Deferred a request for 016,800 a year by the State Cancer Control Commission.

Approved $18,000 a year for the Arkansas History Commission.

Approved $8,500 a year for the Territorial Capitol Restoration Commission.

Approved 25,000 a year for the Arkansas Children's Home and Hospital.

Approved $11,000 a year for the Civil Air Patrol.

Approved $10,450 a year for the state Labor Department.

Approved $21,500 for 1959-60 and $19,000 for 1960-61 for the state Apilary Board.

Approved $29,500 a year for the Arkansas Commemorative Commission.

Cattlemen Tour Purtle Ranch Wed.

Selection of breeding animals in the home farm beef herd was demonstrated and discussed by Ned Ray Purtle at the Ned Purtle and Son Hereford farm with 23 Hempstead cattlemen yesterday.

Commander the top beef market price the animals must have width, depth, and thickness of body, plus smoothness of fleshing. Through the use of six selected bulls the characters desired in the beef animals were pointed out by Ned Ray.

The cattlemen selected the animals in order of their preference with a discussion on "the why" they were selected.

A tour of the pastures was made to observe cows and calves with the winter grazing program being used. Ned Purtle advised the group that singletary peas grazed in the winter, permitted to produce seed for harvest, then followed by Dollars grass for summer use provided the best grazing.

Mr. Purtle said this plan provided summer grazing of high quality during the dry summer season when other pasture areas were suffering.

The quality beef meeting was arranged by County Agent Oliver L. Adams as a step in the cattlemen's program to increase the number of quality feeder calves produced in the county. A recent meeting of the County Agricultural Planning Committee the goal of 200 farms producing at least 40 feeder-type calves per year using home farm pasture and roughage was adopted. A series of community meetings with one in each township is planned for early 1959.

Will Keep Democrat Funds in Arkansas

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus made it plain here last night that as far as he is concerned, the National Democratic Party will get no part of funds raised in the current statewide Dollars for Democrats drive.

Instead, he said, he will personally try to raise Arkansas' quota. "I don't want Arkansas not to do its part," the governor told a $10-a-plate Dollars for Democrats banquet, "but the funds raised in these banquets will stay in Arkansas."

He did not say how he planned to raise money for the national party.

Denies Pair Fired for Disloyalty

BOONEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—T. H. Lipscomb, superintendent of the State Sanatorium, denied yesterday that two employees had been fired for disloyalty to the institution.

Lipscomb said the two were dismissed because they failed to cooperate in a damage claim. The former employees, Mrs. Ethel Beavers and Mrs. Mary Everett, filed suit in Pulaski Chancery Court over their dismissals.

The women charged they were "summarily discharged for alleged disloyalty to the sanatorium" after they appeared as witnesses before the state Claim Commission. Both held $90-a-month jobs as kitchen assistants.

At the hearing, they testified in behalf of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Biggers of near Jonesboro, who sought $25,000 damage for alleged negligence by the sanatorium in the death of their 9-month-old son, Ricky. The commission refused the claim.

Lipscomb said the women refused to cooperate in answering questions prior to the hearing.

R. L. Crank, Dies at Burbank, Calif.

R. L. Crank, aged 41, died at his home in Burbank, Calif. Saturday, Nov. 15.

He is survived by his father, Royce Crank of Emmet, two brothers, Rev. Olin Crank of Detroit, Ark., and Bernice Ray Crank of Richmond, Texas; two sisters, Mrs. Ernest Coffee of Emmet and Mrs. Dean Browning of Hope.

Funeral services will be held at the Methodist Church of Emmet, Friday at 2 p. m. Cornish Mortuary of Prescott is in charge of funeral arrangements.

Fatally Injured by .22 Rifle

ARKANSAS CITY, Ark. (AP)—Billy Peacock, 22, of Arkansas City was fatally wounded by a .22 caliber rifle yesterday at the home of a friend.

Deputy Sheriff Paul May said the weapon accidentally discharged when Roy Langley picked it up to clean it. Peacock and Langley were at Langley's home.

Peacock was struck in the side and died at a Dermott hospital.

Proposed Steel Merger Banned by U. S. Court

NEW YORK (AP)—A proposed merger of Bethlehem Steel Corp. and the Youngstown Steel & Tube Co. was rejected today by U. S. Dist. Judge Edward Weinfeld.

Judge Weinfeld said the merger, opposed by the government, would be a violation of the Clayton Antitrust Act, substantially lessen competition and tend to create a monopoly.

Arthur B. Homer, president of Bethlehem, said, however, that if the Clayton Act is to be interpreted as preventing the use of practical methods of promoting real and effective competition, its effect will be substantially to retard the competitive growth of American industry.

A Youngstown spokesman said there would be no comment until the opinion could be studied.

The proposed merger would have been the biggest in business history.

In an 88-page opinion, Judge Weinfeld concluded "there is reasonable probability that the merger of Bethlehem and Youngstown would be in violation of Section 7 of the Clayton Act, substantially lessen competition and tend to create a monopoly in the iron and steel industry."

The corporations had sought through long and involved court proceedings for a merger which would have resulted in a company having assets totaling $2,710,000,000.

In his decision Judge Weinfeld said:

"The proposed merger would eliminate the present substantial competition between Bethlehem and Youngstown is substantial relevant markets."

"It would eliminate substantial potential competition between them. It would eliminate a substantial independent, alternative source of supply for all the steel consumers. It would eliminate Youngstown as a vital source of supply for independent fabricators who are in competition with Bethlehem in the sale of certain fabricated steel products."

"It would eliminate Youngstown as a substantial buyer of certain fabricated steel products."

Judge Weinfeld said the merger "offers an incipient threat of setting into motion a chain reaction of further mergers by the others but less powerful companies in the steel industry."

Candidate in Attack on Integration

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Dr. George P. Branscum, a Little Rock dentist, today launched his campaign for a three-year term on the city school board with an attack on school integration.

"The current effort to integrate the public schools of our country," Branscum said, "is the desire of but few Americans and has been and is being promoted by Communists to strengthen their hold on our country and its people."

Branscum charged the constitutional rights of the people to control their own schools were being taken from them "by devious means."

He declared he would work to restore "these rights which are theirs and theirs alone."

The candidate, one of 14 persons seeking places on the six-member school board, said he believed in a free public school system and would attempt to preserve it but "mixing of the races has always resulted in the direct and most tragic results for both the white and Negro races, as well as in a distinct backward step in the advancement of humanity in general."

Branscum has two opponents in the race for the board position vacated by Harold Engstrom Jr. The other candidates are Ted Lamm, advertising agency head, and Mrs. Pauline Woodson, a real estate operator.

The school board election will be held Dec. 6.

G&F Sued by Widow of Drowning Victim

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The widow of a man drowned in Lake Conway 19 months ago has filed a claim for $381,500 in damages against the Arkansas Game and Fish Commission.

A commission spokesman said Mrs. Wesley Crump of the Republican community near Greenbrier filed the claim with the State Claims Commission. Her 45-year-old husband drowned April 4, 1957, when he and another man jumped from a fishing boat which a swift current was carrying toward a spillway on the lake.

Believes Board Hasn't Authority

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The state Democratic Party chairman said yesterday he did not believe the state Board of Election Commissioners had authority to investigate the recent Fifth District congressional election.

An investigation of the balloting, in which Dr. Dale Alford of Little Rock defeated Rep. Brooks Hays (D-Ark.) in a write-in campaign, was sought by John F. Wells, publisher of the weekly Arkansas Recorder.

Tom Harper of Fort Smith, a member of the state election commission, in addition to heading the state Democratic Party, said the election board "does not appear to have any jurisdiction."

Harper's reply was in a letter to Wells.

Wells had questioned the use of stickers posted on ballots by Alford's supporter.

Wells did not indicate what he planned to do next.

Father of Sen. McClellan Dies at Pine Bluff

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP)—Isaac S. McClellan, father of Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.), died at a Pine Bluff hospital yesterday after suffering a heart attack Nov. 7.

The 87-year-old retired attorney was a resident of Sheridan.

Sen. McClellan received word of his father's death while in the midst of a hearing of the Senate Rackets Committee, which he headed. He and Mrs. McClellan planned to leave immediately for Arkansas.

It was only a few months ago that the senator was summoned to Arkansas by the death of his son, James McClellan, who was killed in a plane crash.

Previously McClellan's other two sons died tragically, one during World War II in North Africa, the other in a car accident in Arkansas.

The elder McClellan, also survived by another son, Joe McClellan, Pine Bluff postmaster, "Funeral services will be at 11 a. m. tomorrow at the First Baptist Church in Sheridan."

But, he asserted, the Western Powers—including West Germany—are determined to stand fast and not panic.

Arkansas Has Some 36,000 Alcoholics

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—An official told the Arkansas Legislative Council today the state has about 36,000 problem drinkers and full-fledged alcoholics.

Dean Morley, vice chairman of the Arkansas Commission on Alcoholism, said in support of the agency's plea for a budget increase that alcoholism is rapidly being recognized as a public health problem.

The commission now gets a yearly appropriation of $15,000, it wants $75,000.

Morley proposed that seminars on alcoholism conducted by the commission be expanded into a statewide educational program. He said both the medical profession and the clergy have shown interest in the seminars.

He said no other state agency was trying to handle education on the problems of alcoholism. The commission has no connection with Alcoholics Anonymous.

Morley told the council some hospitals now treat alcoholics they formerly would "run of as drunks." He said alcoholism is not caused by alcohol but is due to psychological and physiological disturbances.

The Legislative Council had a state of 16 budget hearings today with no sign that its economy drive has eased.

Man 57, Perishes

WALNUT RIDGE, Ark. (AP)—A 57-year-old man died in a fire which swept his four-room home here yesterday.

The body of the victim, John Sellers, was found on the floor near the front door of the gutted house. He was a widower and lived alone.

An autopsy at Little Rock showed Sellers died of smoke suffocation. But Coroner Bob Higginbotham said a coroner's jury would consider the matter next week despite the report.

The jury was empaneled after officers reported that the neighbors heard loud voices in the house shortly before the fire.

Body of Man Is Found in River

DEVALLS BLUFF, Ark. (AP)—The body of William R. Allen, 37, of Memphis, who drowned in the White River here, was found about four miles downstream yesterday.

Allen drowned when a boat capsized. He, his wife and a friend's son were fishing. Mrs. Allen and the boy, Jimmy Thrush, 15, of Memphis, were wearing life preservers and made it to the bank about 100 feet away.

West Will Use Tough Policy to Save Berlin

By HERB ALTSCHULL

BONN, Germany (AP)—Soviet Ambassador Andrei Smirnov told Chancellor Konrad Adenauer today what the Russians intend to do "to realize the liquidation of the occupation status of Berlin."

Neither Smirnov nor the Bonn government disclosed what was said, but Soviet sources in Berlin said the Russians will give East Germany's Communist regime control of the West's land, air and rail routes to the isolated old capital.

West Will Use

Wednesday night Russia intends to give the East Germans control over all Western supply lines into the former German capital, surrounded by Communist territory.

If a new Berlin blockade threatens, diplomatic officials said the Allied governments could face far-reaching decisions on whether to:

1. Try to ram an armored train or tanked truck convoys through any barriers the East Germans might erect.
2. Revive the Allied airlift which licked the Red blockade 10 years ago.

Initially, the Allied counter-strategy may involve strictly limited dealings with East German authorities who might replace Soviet personnel at check points. This has not been decided definitely yet, mainly because the West Germans are reported objecting. The East Germans, it is felt, might ally such dealings as a step toward Allied recognition.

Allied diplomats acknowledged that any such policy would be a partial reversal of the present attitude of no contact whatever with the Soviet puppet government.

But, they said, any such Allied-East German contacts would be carried out only with well-publicized announcements that the East Germans are being treated as agents of the Soviet Union.

Baptists Vote a Record Budget

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Baptist Convention closes its annual session today after having adopted a record-making $1,700,000 budget for 1959.

The budget, which exceeds this year's by some $100,000 was approved unanimously and without debate yesterday.

It includes $576,000 for the Southern Baptist Convention, $884,000 for state causes and $130,200 for capital needs.

The state causes include $29,120 for Ouachita Baptist College at Arkadelphia, $93,000 for missions, $6,000 for retirement plans and $6,000 for Arkansas Baptist Hospital.

Capital needs include $50,000 for the hospital; $12,000 for new mission sites and $5,000 for new office building.

A special Thanksgiving offering is expected to raise about $100,000 for the Bottoms Baptist Orphanage not been included in previous budgets.

Rep. Brooks Hays (D-Ark), president of the Southern Baptist Convention, arrived here last night from Washington to address the convention today.

Mrs. Oscar Hart.

P. A. Escarre Jr. of Dallas visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Escarre, over the weekend.

Miss Frances O'Rourke of Dallas was a weekend visitor in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill O'Rourke.

Zoo to Have One Less Big Mouth

NEW YORK (AP)—Soon there will be one less huge mouth to feed at the Bronx Zoo. Bertie, a 2-year-old, 1,200-pound hippopotamus, is heading west.

His parents, Falsalt and Rosa II, are all the hippos the zoo can handle. So, New York City put Bertie on the block.

The top bid, $2,450 or about $3 a pound, came from Arthur E. Johnson, chairman of the board of the Argo Oil Corp. of Denver. He has ticketed Bertie for the Denver Zoo.

Lowest in rank of military aides to the Presidents of the United States was Maj. Archibald W. Bull. He served in that position for Theodore Roosevelt and William Howard Taft.

Rice and TCU Top Game in Conference

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The two teams that play the one-Texas Christian vs. Rice game in the Southwest Conference championship on the line, wanted to win their kicking games as they will final hard drills.

Coach Alie Martin had Texas Christian paying close attention to putting under pressure Wednesday, particularly from the line. The yard line Texas got a safety on Sunday when TCU was "kicked" from the end zone.

At Houston, Coach Rice said he felt the kicking game was the key to the game. He said that Texas blocked punt led to the touchdown that put Texas A&M ahead and led to Rice's downfall last week.

Rice had only one player in the line of scrimmage, and he was the only one who was not a Texas Christian player.

Baker Largest Pro Ram Footballer

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP)—John Baker is a tackle for the Los Angeles Rams, the largest man they ever had. He got into the organization mainly because he kept hitting into a movie film when the Rams were trying to get a line on another player.

Eddie Kotal, head of the Rams' scouting system, recalled they were screening a reel on a Florida A & M—North Carolina college game.

"We were scouting a Florida back, but every time there was a cutoff or a punt, all we could see was some enormous North Carolina tackle charging down the field," said Kotal.

"He'd do his part in hitting on the defense, then take out and still be the first man down to make the tackle."

Eddie was impressed by the speed and the size of the tackle, so he caught the jersey number, and finally unearthed "Little John," who towers 6 foot 11 1/2 and is now a slim 290 compared to his original 315.

Coach Sid Gillman says 22-year-old John has much to learn in pro football but expects he'll become a truly great player.

Saratoga in Double Win From Fouke

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Saratoga senior cage teams won a doubleheader from Fouke Tuesday night in the loser's gym. Sue Porter, Mary McLaurey, Molly Ellen and Charlotte Green each hit for 10 points as the Saratoga senior girls won a 42-39 contest. Sue Walraven was high for Fouke with 20 tallies.

Coach Louis Singleton's senior boys grabbed a 39-32 victory with Steven McJunkins, Bill McJunkins, James Fred Stanton and McKinley Dillard each getting 7 tallies. Coston made 4 for Fouke.

The Saratoga senior girls now have a win and 10 record while the boys are standing a 2-2.

Monday night, Nov. 24, the Saratoga Junior teams entertain Fouke in a doubleheader with the first game at 7 p.m.

The Junior girls team members are Alice Lewis, Rachel Webb, Nellie Nell, Pat Schooley, Rosemary Bell, Linda Kay Gathright, Judy Cannon, Patricia King, Betty Fontaine, Rose Fontaine and Rebecca Knighton.

Junior boys squad members are David Fricks, David Peobles, Tommy Sanders, Alton Parson, Wayne Marcum, Kirby Gathright, Dwight Chism, Danny McJunkins, Tommy McJunkins, Stanley Reed, Richard McKinney, Jimmy Ellis and Jimmy Sanders.

Sports reporters for Saratoga are Myra McLaurey and Charlotte Green.

Jackie Jensen Named Most Valuable

By DAVE O'HARA
Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP)—Jackie Jensen, whose slugging helped the Boston Red Sox to a third place finish, today was named the American League's most valuable player in the 1958 season.

The 31-year-old outfielder ended the New York Yankees' four-year hold on the coveted award by drawing 233 points in the balloting by a 24-member committee of the Baseball Writers' Assn. of America.

New York right-hander Bob Turley, the major league's pitcher of the year, was runnerup with 101 points, followed by Cleveland's Rocky Colavito with 181 and Kansas City's Bob Cerv with 164.

Mickey Mantle of the Yankees, the 1950 and '57 MVP winner, failed to gain a first place vote and was fifth with 127 points.

Washington's Roy Sievers was next with 93 votes followed by American League batting champion Ted Williams of the Red Sox with 89.

The voting was by three baseball writers in each of the American League cities between the end of the regular season and the start of the World Series. A first place vote was worth 14 points, a second 10 points, a third 8, down to 1 for 10th.

Jensen, who led the league in runs batted in with 123, earned a place on all but one ballot. He received nine first place votes, six second, three thirds, two fourths, two fifths and one eighth.

Turley had seven first place votes, but was not named on three firsts but failed to earn a point from two voters.

Cerv, who despite injuries crashed 38 homers, drove in 104 runs and batted .305, was the only player named on all 24 ballots. He was placed on top on three ballots and had one second.

Chicago's Nellie Fox, who trailed Williams by a single point with 83, was the only other player awarded a first place vote. He was named on 17 ballots.

"They're two different kinds of players," Kundla said.

"The man amazes me," said Kundla. "To think that a rookie could lead the club in points, assists and rebounds even at this stage of the season. And be way up among the leaders in the league to boot."

"I had a lot of hopes for him when he came to use from Seattle University. But I didn't dream he'd take hold so fast."

The 6-5 All-American college star has come onto the pro scene like a volcano. In 12 games he has averaged 23.9 points a game, snatched an average of 10 rebounds and made about five assists a game.

"He's been in the league for 10 games and he's already one of the 10 best players," said Coach Fuzzy Levane of the New York Knicks, bookers on the Lakers Eastern swing.

Elgin's spectacular coming-out is all the more noteworthy for this. He was a pivotman in college, seldom having to worry about corner shooting. With the Lakers he's a corner man.

Robbers Make One Little Mistake

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Two men who robbed the President Loan Assn. of $500 here made one mistake.

They made Ben W. Elliott, the appraiser on duty, lie on the floor right beside an alarm bell.

Elliott nudged in two minutes later the robbers, armed with pistols, were stopped by a motorcycle policeman.

Albert Brown, 31, and William O'Malley, 42, were charged with armed robbery.

Coach Won't Compare Baylor, Mikan

By JIM KLOBUCHAR

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Compare Elgin Baylor with George Mikan?

The man doing the neat professional job of dissecting that one is Coach Johnny Kundla of the Minneapolis Lakers, a baller scoured out of 19 years in the National Basketball Assn.

"They're two different kinds of players," Kundla said.

"The man amazes me," said Kundla. "To think that a rookie could lead the club in points, assists and rebounds even at this stage of the season. And be way up among the leaders in the league to boot."

NCAA Fails to Approve Aluminum Bowl

By JIM KLOBUCHAR

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—An Aluminum Bowl football game for Little Rock is at least a year away in view of action by the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. yesterday.

The NCAA left the proposed Aluminum Bowl off a list of 11 approved post-season games and said it would be considered along with three others at a meeting in January.

Tentative approval for the game in War Memorial Stadium had been given by the NCAA special events committee early this year.

Executive committee approval is expected to come at the January session.

Plans for the post-season clash were put into operation by the Aluminum Bowl Assn.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower travels south today to the vacation retreat he likes best of all—the Augusta National Golf Club in Georgia.

Planning about a 10-day stay through the Thanksgiving week, the President scheduled a midday departure aboard his private plane, Columbine III.

This is Eisenhower's 21st trip to Augusta since he was elected in 1952. He likes it there because the seclusion is as close to complete as any President ever gets.

The White House said some members of the President's Cabinet and other key government officials probably will fly from Washington for discussion of the federal budget and the legislative program Eisenhower will send to Congress in January.

Mrs. Eisenhower is delaying her departure until this evening because she is giving a luncheon at the White House for United Nations women. The first lady, who doesn't care much for plane travel, will take a train to Augusta, arriving Friday morning.

Movie Stars to Storm the Golf Course

UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—A cloud of divots will engulf movie-land next week when a pack of stars storm the golf course for the title of "world entertainment" golf champion.

Duffers and one-handicappers will belt it out at Los Coyotes Country Club with comedians, leading men, character actors, and cowpokes trying for honors.

Golf rates highest with Hollywood celebrities, many of whom devote more time to curing a slice than perfecting their acting techniques.

And some of them are mighty good.

But because they're a part of show biz only a few private clubs allow them membership. The great bulk of movie and TV stars belong to one of three clubs—Bel Air, Lakeside and Hillcrest. Some belong to all three.

Los Angeles Country Club has a strict ban on the green-paint set. Anyone faintly connected with the movies hasn't a chance.

Bing Crosby once said: "It'd be all right if a distant cousin of mine applied. But I live a short part from the LA club and I can't join."

Crosby and Bob Hope, tinsel town's most famous golfers, are foregoing the tournament because of work. But most of the other backers are having a go at it.

Favored is Bob Sterling, of TV's "Topper" series who shoots to a "1" handicap. Also in contention are crooner Don Cherry (a scratch player), Gordon MacRae (5) and Dean Martin (7).

A pair of dancers, Ray Bolger (10) and Fred Astaire (7) will be flailing away against such cowboy stars as Jim Garner—a 9-handicapper who claims he hit a hole-in-one in a private club—Richard (the Californian) Coogan (12), Guy Madison (8), Gene Autry (12).

Two former screen "Tarzans," Johnny Weissmuller (8) and Lex Barker (7) will be bunching their muscles in a private duel for tournament honors.

Jack Benny, the magnificent scambler with a 16 handicap, withdrew from competition after checking the opposition.

Mickey Will Compete.

But little George Gobel, sporting a 10 handicap, Phil Harris (9) and Mickey Rooney (9) will be on hand to provide laughs along with some better-than-average golf.

Two of golfdom's zaniest adherents will be missing—Jerry Lewis (who is ill) and Victor Mature (who limits himself to two-man tournaments) Jerry and Victor may one another frequently in rigged tournaments.

The winner buys the loser a huge loving cup for second place, and the loser presents the winner with an impressive trophy. Both Mature and Lewis have lined their den walls with eye-popping trophies.

All told some 120 golfer-entertainers will compete at Los Coyotes (located in Belhurst) to see money for the Motion Picture Relief Fund.

And for the first time in history a champion will be named among movietown golf addicts, an accolade many would prefer to an Academy Award.

West Calls on Reds to Help End Danger

GENEVA (AP)—The Western Powers called on the Communists today to study the instruments of surprise attack and techniques used in lessening the danger of such blows.

Former Italian Defense Minister Paolo Emilio Tassinari advanced the proposal at the 10-nation conference on prevention of surprise attacks.

It was the second effort by the West in as many days to get the conference down to the technical studies for which it was convened.

An order prohibiting gambling in the U.S. Army was issued in 1778.

Grim Story of Freighter Told
by Survivor

By TOM DYGDARD

CHARLEVOIX, Mich. (AP) — With but the faintest flicker of hope, grim sailors searched in still angry waters among tiny islands at the top of Lake Michigan today for 15 men still missing from a big ship which a howling storm sent to the bottom Tuesday night.

Only two survivors, who rode out a near-freezing 14 hours on a tiny raft, have been found. They said two who made the raft with them disappeared as mountainous waves flung it topsy turvey at least three times.

Eighteen bodies have been recovered.

The 615-foot Carl D. Bradley, which carried a crew of 35, broke in two and went down off Ojibwa Island, some 45 miles northwest of this Michigan resort. Some half a dozen uninhabited islands are scattered to the north and east of the scene.

The 180-foot Coast Guard cutter Sunaw and Holyhook backed 40-mile winds today in pushing to the islands. Three helicopters and two amphibians also were buffeted as they searched from aloft.

Winds ranged up to 72 miles when the Bradley broke up. It was 40 degrees that night; just as cold Wednesday night.

Veteran seafarers said none could have survived through even the first day. They were amazed two made it overnight, and a physician described their survival as "an amazing piece of human endurance."

But if by chance some made it to land alive, they still might be alive. That was the one flicker of faint hope today's searchers had, although planes could spot no one or any footprints on any of the islands.

The grim story of the storm-battered sinking of the freighter was told Wednesday night by the two survivors of the Great Lakes' greatest disaster since 1953.

Frank Mays and Elmer Fleming, the survivors, were thrown from their 48-foot raft three times in Tuesday's ink-black night. But each time they managed to find it again and climb aboard again, clinging for their lives, hoping they could last until daylight.

Fleming and Mays told their stories from hospital beds here Wednesday night. They had been brought in by the Sunaw, which also brought the bodies of eight of their fellow seamen.

Mays and Fleming told of the terror and confusion on the sinking Bradley, once the largest freighter on the Great Lakes, and of their praying and shivering on the 105-ton raft in near-freezing temperatures.

Fleming, the Bradley's first mate and a 48-year-old veteran of sailing the Great Lakes, did most of the talking.

"I was in the pilot house on watch with the captain," he said. "We heard a thud. Then the alarm bell started ringing."

"Something spun us around," he said. "Then we looked down on the deck. It wasn't hard to see something was wrong. The stern was sagging."

Fleming managed to get off a distress signal on the Bradley's radio. Then he was in the cold

Hunt for Missing
Plane Abandoned

OGDEN, Utah (AP) — Civilian patrols gave up the hunt for the missing navigator of a C-119 transport plane, but Air Force ground parties searched again today in the mountain country east of here.

Sergeant Leroy Hadley called off the civilian volunteers, saying there was no hope of finding Capt. Donald Liggett alive. Liggett, 40, of Indianapolis, bailed out of the crippled plane into a snowstorm, last Friday with seven companions.

Three of the men died in a weekend blizzard and four were rescued.

water. It was almost sundown. "We climbed on the raft and held on with all we had."

At first there were four on the raft took a complete flip. Fleming's wooden structure with a low metal railing and metal pontoons.

"We lost one of them when the raft took a complete flip," Fleming said. "I swam until I got back to it. Then I helped the others get back on."

Twice more the waves whipped up by a 60-mile-an-hour wind lifted the raft and overturned it. "I've never been so cold in my life," Fleming said. "Ice was beginning to form on my jacket and in my hair."

Thinks Voting at Norfolk Tragic

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Norfolk Superintendent of Schools testified today "it is very tragic" for the thousand of white pupils locked out of six integration closed schools "to miss the education to which they are entitled."

These pupils will have difficulty getting into college and their future job opportunities will be greatly affected, Supt. John J. Brewbaker told a three judge federal court.

Brewbaker was the first witness at a hearing of a suit, brought by 15 white parents and 11 children, attacking the constitutionality of Virginia's school closing law. The suit seeks reopening of the six white secondary schools.

The closings, which occurred Sept. 23 upon the enrollment of 17 Negroes in compliance with a federal court desegregation order, this had a "very demoralizing effect on the teachers in the schools," Brewbaker testified. The schools have a total enrollment of about 10,000.

If the schools do not open soon, the teachers will leave the city," he said.

Red Candidates Fail to Get Majorities

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) — Only 91 of 89,192 Communist-backed candidates for village councils in Hungary's single-ticket election failed to win majorities, the Red regime announced today. All 338 candidates for Parliament were approved Sunday in the first vote since the 1956 uprising against Russian domination.

She looked up the stair well. She put her hands on the banisters and started up. The first step creaked under her weight. She had forgotten how noisy these wooden steps were.

She tested the next one before she stepped on it, trying it gingerly with one foot. It did not creak. A sound came out of the greenness behind her. She stood deathly still for a moment waiting; then she looked over her shoulder: a new light had flashed on in the pile of machinery, it began to hum with a metallic whine, one of the iron arms lifted and fell, one of the giant wheels started around.

Someone had opened a window. Or perhaps Amy was making the beds. Anyway, it was not a noise that should alarm her.

The door at the head of the stairs did not open directly into the kitchen proper. Instead it opened into a sort of alcove, a narrow passageway between the kitchen and the living room.

When she felt the cold metal of the doorknob under her fingers, she began to turn it slowly for fear it would click; and when it did click, almost inaudibly, she ceased the door open a fraction of an inch and waited.

She crept across the dining room door and laid her ear against it. Again there was only silence.

She inched the door open and peered through. The double doors into the living room stood open. She stole across toward them, keeping out of sight as much as she could against the wall.

She felt a little foolish. No one was in the room.

She ventured on into the living room, still walking on tiptoe, stopping every few steps to listen. The sense of insecurity began coming back to her suddenly, standing there by the chimney, by the lowered fire screen. She started to move back away from the windows when she thought about the table.

She hadn't thought all morning about the peculiar events of the table. That Aunt Millicent had moved it back into place before she did anything else. Last night she had absorbed the fact, but it had meant nothing to her. But now, when she was more alert, more rested, knowing all that she did know, she saw what had been going on. Aunt Millicent had gotten her to jump off the roof and then deliberately stood back so that she would fall the farthest possible distance. She'd been trying to kill her, and she'd thought she was dead. She had been in a hurry to move the table away from the chimney so that it would look as if Katherine had fallen off the roof by herself. She could have said it was an accident.

And that would explain what she saw now, too, looking out across the terrace. The table was no longer at the far edge, where it had been moved back to. It was under the chimney again. Someone had moved it, either late last night or this morning.

She might have told someone — anyone — Amy — Mr. Wetherby — about what had happened last night. There was less risk of her remembering that the table had been by the chimney when she than of her forgetting that it had been by the chimney when she jumped.

She started toward the hall and the bedrooms. She heard a sound for the first time, a sound of life, of activity, of someone moving. Paul's door was open. Amy was making his bed.

She waited until Amy was bending over the bed with her back to the open door, and then she ran silently down the hall to her own door.

This room was empty, too. It was just as she had left it last night — the rumpled bed, which she had occupied for half an hour, the mess of clothes in the closet, the curtains open at the window.

But it hadn't been empty all that time. They had been here, had found her gone, and they'd made more plans.

Now she heard for the first time the sounds from behind the bathroom door. A scratching, a whining, and then a short bark. Rex was still shut up where she had left him.

At the far end of the collar and nearer the middle, along the wall, there was a great sunken pit, five or four feet deep with an iron railing around it and steps leading down into it, and set in the middle was the enormous, complicated, writhing mass of machinery — gears and wheels and pumps and clutching metal arms — that worked all the elaborate gadgets with which the house was filled: the sliding windows, the fire screen, the disappearing ovens in the kitchen, the beds that elevated themselves to make the dozens of mechanical wonders of which Katherine's mother had been so proud when the house was new.

Katherine had never been down into the pit. It had been explained to her that it was dangerous, that she must never go near it. Red lights that glowed on two or three of the metal humps. Switches on the various parts had lists of instructions pasted beside them.

She went toward the foot of the stairs past the corner of the iron

SOMETHING TO SQUEEZE AT—Pretty Karin Black of Barrington, Ill., wonders if you can guess what this old-looking instrument she holds was ever used for. It's a lemon squeezer, common in households in the early 1800s, which was on display at a Chicago antique show. The wooden device was designed to close over a lemon half set on the knob.

Fans May Not Like This Criticism

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI)—I mustered up enough stupefaction Tuesday night to watch ABC-TV's "Cheyenne" all the way through and I must say that its hero, Ty Hardin, possesses an almost spectacular lack of acting skills.

I would place Hardin one level below Dale Robertson of NBC-TV's "Wells Fargo" and Rory Calhoun of CBS-TV's "The Texan."

I'm afraid I didn't understand the camera work on one portion of CBS-TV's "To Tell The Truth" Tuesday night — while Polly Bergen was spinning a hula hoop, the lensman was zeroing in on her face. Henry Morgan visited CBS-TV's "Arthur Godfrey Show" Tuesday night and the following exchange took place:

Godfrey: "I have no talent. I play the ukelele — badly. That's all."

Morgan: "That's true."

Carl Reiner, a brilliant second banann, really sparked the portions of the NBC-TV "George Gobel Show" that I caught Tuesday night. One skill set in a "super-market" packed some wonderfully funny bits.

Steve Allen, interviewed Tuesday night on "The Ben Hecht Show" — which is seen only in the New York area — had this to say: "I could put on a much better show than I put on now on Sundays if I were working for, say, the NBC. Allen was referring to the need to cater to mass tastes because of the pressures of ratings and sponsors' needs.

I believe my favorite line of the TV week occurred Tuesday night on the NBC-TV "Jack Paar Show" when Tallulah Bankhead casually remarked: "I smoked hashish once and got sick as a dog."

The Channel Swim: NBC-TV has an option on "Showboat" and wants Polly Bergen to star in it. Bill Leyden will pinch hit for Jack Paar on the latter's NBC-TV show this Friday — Paar is going to Washington to accept an award.

CBS Radio will revamp its entire schedule on Jan. 5—network time will be cut from the present 55 or 60 hours a week to about 40 hours per week. Bishop Fulton J. Sheen will be featured in a special half-hour ABC-TV Christmas Day show.

ABC-TV is looking to run new time slot for "Man With A Camera" — its Friday night ratings are a little so-so. Tammy Grimes, who is Christopher Plummer's wife, and Sally Gracie, who is Rod Taylor's wife, will play a couple of floozies in the CBS-TV special "Gift of the Magi," Dec. 9.

An NBC-TV Dec. 14 special, "The Hallmark Christmas Tree," will offer Ralph Bellamy, Carol Channing, Maurice Evans, Tom Poston, Cyril Ritchard, William Shatner and Jessica Tandy. Cliff Arquette will be featured once a month as Charlie Weaver on the NBC-TV "Tennessee Ernie Ford Show."

ABC-TV will launch a series of "Meet McGraw" repeats in a nighttime slot this Sunday. CBS-TV may shift the morning Arthur Godfrey show to an earlier time slot. Ratings are the reason—the latest Nielsen gives the competing NBC-TV "The Price Is Right" 8.5 to Godfrey's 2.6.

Defense Against Missile Possible

PARIS (AP)—The U.S. Army's missile unit today said a defense against intercontinental nuclear missiles is possible and under accelerated development in the United States.

Major Gen. John Medaris added, however, that "no defense is in existence at this time."

Medaris gave a missile briefing to the fourth annual conference of Parliament members from the 15 North Atlantic Alliance countries.

Would Probe Smear of the FBI's Hoover

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. John Marshall Butler (R-Md.) said today he will ask the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee, to investigate "a deliberate smear campaign against J. Edgar Hoover and the Federal Bureau of Investigation."

Butler, a member of the Senate investigating group, listed three recent moves which he said he regarded as critical of Hoover and the FBI.

"It seems to me that the American people are entitled to know the origin of the vicious smear campaign, who is behind it and how it is financed," he said.

Butler called attention to a 60-page article in the Oct. 28 issue of The Nation magazine. He said the article consisted "largely of misrepresentations and distortion, half truth and innuendo, obviously designed to damage the FBI's reputation." He said thousands of extra copies of the magazine were printed and said the Senate committee should determine "who contributed the money for such a large printing."

When a charge similar to Butler's was made a month ago by Preston J. Moore, national commander of the American Legion, Carey McWilliams, editor of The Nation said the issue "was in no sense a smear job on the FBI."

Butler said another attack will be made by the New York Post. "I am reliably informed," Butler said, "that reporters for the Post are seeking out former FBI agents and asking the most repulsive questions imaginable concerning Mr. Hoover. No self-respecting newspaper would permit such questions to be asked."

James A. Wechsler, editor of the Post said of Butler's statement: "This is the latest in a series of attacks apparently designed to discredit independent study of Mr. Hoover and the FBI even before the research has been completed and the articles written."

"As I have pointed out in response to earlier attacks, the simple fact is that the Post is preparing a comprehensive study of the FBI director and his organization. We are interviewing a wide variety of sources in an effort to

New Scientific Find May Be Key to Future

By DELLOS SMITH
UPI Science Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—Certain radioactive substances and chemical compounds when put into female muscles or blood stream end up in close proximity to the eggs from which spring human lives.

This new scientific find is basic in science's worries over the inherited make-ups of future generations because today's parents are subjected to radiation and chemical hazards their own progenitors never had.

Science already knew for facts that (1) radioactive substances and some chemicals will cause germ cells to "mutate" or change and (2) those substances get into human bodies. But it didn't know for sure until now that they get to the reproductive chemistry even when they enter bodies in places remote from that chemistry.

Provided Missing Link

Drs. Kurt N. von Kaulla, Jerry K. Alkawa, and John D. Pettigrew of the University of Colorado School of Medicine, Denver, provided this missing link in precise scientific knowledge through relatively simple and harmless experiments in 29 female bodies.

These women were undergoing hysterectomies for compelling medical reasons, which meant their reproductive tracts were exposed surgically. Before surgery one or more of the following substances was put into their bodies, either by injection into a vein or muscle or by mouth.

The radioactive isotope, iodine-131, human gamma globulin "tagged" with iodine-131; surgical medications "tagged" with the radioactive isotopes, carbon-14 or mercury-203. Medications included the tranquilizing drug, meprobamate, and penicillin.

Substances Were Present During surgery, samples were taken of the fluid of the cells which surround the egg-producing organs and through which eggs pass. In all cases, the injected and mouth-taken substances were present. Indeed, there was some suggested that they were "contain a complete and balanced report. We trust Mr. Hoover does not share the view that he, unlike all other government officials, should be immune to objective reporting."

Wife of British Official Killed

JERUSALEM (AP)—The missing wife of British air attaché to Israel was found today, shot to death 160 yards from the Syrian-Israeli border.

She had been shot in the stomach.

There was no suggestion that either meprobamate or penicillin is capable of causing germ cells to mutate. Neither have that power. But some chemical compounds do have that power, and there is no doubt of radiation either from x-rays or the "fall-out" from atomic explosions, having that power.

The scientists reported to the International Technical Journal, "Nature," that their studies "suggested" the human egg is "exposed" to therapeutic agents introduced into the general circulation," they said they did not know whether drugs present within the ovarian fluid could do harm to the egg.

But they're going to find out. They said they were currently trying to show whether the substances conveyed to the fluid "actually penetrate into the egg proper."

ach. The woman was Mrs. Kenneth C. Doran, 47.

U. N. truce teams began an investigation.
